

Northwest golf courses:
Find out where to play

There are so many great courses to play in the NW, courses like Shuksan Golf Club in Bellingham, Wash. (right). For a complete list of NW courses see inside this section.

No shortage of resorts in the Pacific Northwest

If you are looking for some of the top golf resorts in the country, look no further than the Pacific Northwest.

Northwest Golf Guide

As winter in the Pacific Northwest comes to a close, it's time to take a look at what we have for golf in the Northwest for the 2026 season.

Inside this special issue you will find all kinds of information from the listing of all the golf courses in the Pacific Northwest to resorts to RV friendly courses and more.

You will also find listings of great places to play like Wildhorse Resort in Pendleton, Ore. (top) to Glendoveer and its two courses in Portland (left) to The Home Course in DuPont, Wash. (right).

The 2026 golf season is here and it's time to get outside and tee it up and maybe experience some courses that you haven't played before.

Gamble Sands' Scarecrow: The newest NW course award winner

Golf Digest has named Scarecrow "Best New Public Course" for 2025. And that carries a little extra meaning as the original Gamble Sands course also earned Best New honors when it opened back in 2014. Two courses at the same resort, both recognized as the Best New Public Course of the year. That's exceptionally rare company.

The Golf Digest news comes on the heels of Sports Illustrated naming Scarecrow its Best New Resort Course of 2025. Then there's Golfweek, which launched Scarecrow straight into the Top 75 on its list of the 200 Best Resort Courses in the United States. Scarecrow debuts in a tie for No. 73 while the original Gamble Sands layout continues to sit comfortably tied for No. 20. Two courses. One property. Both inside the Top 75. That says a lot about what the owners of Gamble Sands were trying to do in building one of Washington's leading golf resorts — a destination that draws golf connoisseurs from near and far and gives them reason to stay multiple days and nights at the resort's hotel for an unforgettable golf experience.
